

Synopsis of famous legends Date: _____

Fill in the blanks using the following words:

travelers - red - her - serpent - and -
night - places - a - sacrifice - blood

La Llorona

The legend of La Llorona, the weeping woman, tells the story of a woman who drowned 1) _____ children in a fit of rage and now wanders the streets at 2) _____, crying and looking for her lost children.

El Chupacabras

The Chupacabra is a legendary creature said to attack and kill livestock, draining their 3) _____. It is described as a reptile-like creature with spikes on its back and glowing 4) _____ eyes.

El Charro Negro

El Charro Negro is 5) _____ ghostly figure dressed in black charro attire, similar to a Mexican cowboy. He is said to haunt the countryside, often appearing to 6) _____ at night.

Quetzalcoatl and the Moon

The Legend of Quetzalcoatl tells of the feathered 7) _____ deity who descended to Earth as a man. One day, he went on a long journey and got hungry and tired. Seeing no food or water, he felt he might perish. A kind rabbit nearby offered herself as food to save him. Touched by her 8) _____, Quetzalcoatl raised her to the moon.

Popocatepetl and Iztaccihuatl

These are two legendary volcanoes near Mexico City. According to the legend, Popocatepetl 9) _____ Iztaccihuatl were lovers who died tragically, and the volcanoes are said to be their eternal resting 10) _____.

Synopsis of famous legends Date: _____

Fill in the blanks using the following words:

travelers - red - her - serpent - and -
night - places - a - sacrifice - blood

La Llorona

The legend of La Llorona, the weeping woman, tells the story of a woman who drowned 1) _____ children in a fit of rage and now wanders the streets at 2) _____, crying and looking for her lost children.

El Chupacabras

The Chupacabra is a legendary creature said to attack and kill livestock, draining their 3) _____. It is described as a reptile-like creature with spikes on its back and glowing 4) _____ eyes.

El Charro Negro

El Charro Negro is 5) _____ ghostly figure dressed in black charro attire, similar to a Mexican cowboy. He is said to haunt the countryside, often appearing to 6) _____ at night.

Quetzalcoatl and the Moon

The Legend of Quetzalcoatl tells of the feathered 7) _____ deity who descended to Earth as a man. One day, he went on a long journey and got hungry and tired. Seeing no food or water, he felt he might perish. A kind rabbit nearby offered herself as food to save him. Touched by her 8) _____, Quetzalcoatl raised her to the moon.

Popocatepetl and Iztaccihuatl

These are two legendary volcanoes near Mexico City. According to the legend, Popocatepetl 9) _____ Iztaccihuatl were lovers who died tragically, and the volcanoes are said to be their eternal resting 10) _____.